Collect

Holy God, you know the disorder of our sinful lives: set straight our crooked hearts, and bend our wills to love your goodness and your glory in Jesus Christ our Lord.

First Reading:

Colossians 3: 12-17

<sup>12</sup> As God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, meekness, and patience. <sup>13</sup> Bear with one another and, if anyone has a complaint against another, forgive each other; just as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive. <sup>14</sup> Above all, clothe yourselves with love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony. <sup>15</sup> And let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts, to which indeed you were called in the one body. And be thankful. <sup>16</sup> Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly; teach and admonish one another in all wisdom; and with gratitude in your hearts sing psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs to God. <sup>17</sup> And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him.

Gospel Reading:

Matthew 5: 1-12

When Jesus saw the crowds, he went up the mountain; and after he sat down, his disciples came to him. <sup>2</sup> Then he began to speak, and taught them, saying:
<sup>3</sup> 'Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
<sup>4</sup> 'Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted.
<sup>5</sup> 'Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth.
<sup>6</sup> 'Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be filled.
<sup>7</sup> 'Blessed are the merciful, for they will receive mercy.
<sup>8</sup> 'Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God.

<sup>9</sup> 'Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God.
<sup>10</sup> 'Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

<sup>11</sup> 'Blessed are you when people revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account.
<sup>12</sup> Rejoice and be glad, for your reward is great in heaven, for in the same way they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Post Communion Prayer

Holy God, we see your glory in the face of Jesus Christ: may we who are partakers at his table reflect his life in word and deed, that all the world may know his power to change and save. This we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord.

REFLECTION – Brian Griffiths

I hope you don't mind me sitting down to preach this morning, but it is actually quite biblical. I want us to think about The Beatitudes that we heard read in our gospel this morning and we read that Jesus went up the mountain and sat down to teach his disciples.

The Beatitudes are just that – 'Be Attitudes' – the attitudes we adopt if we want to 'Be Jesus' to others. I have been reflecting on those who have been Jesus to Rowena and myself during the last few months when I have been ill and had to undergo life changing surgery. We have both been eternally grateful to everyone who has prayed for us, sent kind emails, made supportive phone calls, given us lifts to hospital appointments, sent cards with prayers and good wishes, and even cooked and baked for us. The home-made soups and pies have been delicious! They were all like Jesus to us.

I have been amazed at the kindness shown by the surgeons, doctors and nurses in the hospitals. They may not have known that they were being Jesus to me, but they certainly were. A nurse noticed one of the chaplains at St George's Hospital giving me communion on the ward. She remarked how nice it was and then said, 'Mind you, I'll never make it to heaven – there's no chance for me'. I replied that I thought that no one was ruled out and no one was ruled in and remarked how kind she had been to me (even when she was sticking needles in me!) I don't think she took me seriously and we ended the conversation there while she did my observations and gave me my medication. Well, you can't really talk to anyone while you have a thermometer in your mouth. What she didn't realise was that she was being Jesus to me – indeed everyone who cared for me was like Jesus.

So, what's the secret? How do we be 'like Jesus' to one another and to our local community? Actually, it's no secret – we become like Jesus when we live the Kingdom values in The Beatitudes – and, in doing so, we counter the values of the world.

As we heard in our gospel reading from Matthew, each 'Be Attitude' begins with a blessing. What is a blessing? Traditionally it was believed that the rich, the fortunate, the elite, were the blessed ones – they had been given wealth, power, and worldly success. Jesus, however, blesses all who come to him, all those who have given up hope in this world, and he offers a new hope through faith in him, extending the invitation to share in the heavenly kingdom to the very least of us all.

The Sermon on the Mount is about as radical as it gets. It is a challenge to everyone who hears it not to go along with the world's understanding of success, but to look beyond, into the eternal. It gives a counter-narrative, an invitation to follow a new and different path. An invitation to 'think out of the box'. Often, it is only by thinking from a different perspective that a problem or challenge can be solved. We are encouraged to think from Jesus' perspective.

Jesus' kingdom is an upside-down kingdom. If you want to see where God is active with his blessings, look at the bottom of the heap, to the people who are forgotten and have no hope. It's the poor and the needy that are blessed, not the rich and powerful. Those who are virtuous, and who suffer for the sake of righteousness and Jesus, will also be rewarded. Jesus' words can renew our hope when we are at our lowest point.

During my recovery, I have been watching a lot (and I mean a lot!) of television – normally it works like this – first off is 'Bargain Hunt', followed by The News, 'Dickinson's Real Deal', 'Escape to The Country', 'Antiques Road Trip', 'Flog It', The News again and then whatever football match is on that evening. However, I noticed one day that the film 'Bruce Almighty' was on. I've seen this before and it's a good laugh – but on seeing it a second time I realised just how profound the film is – it said a lot to me about prayer and how someone changes due to acts of kindness.

Without giving too much away, Bruce Nolan (played by Jim Carrey) is a discontented news anchor man. After a particularly bad day Bruce rants at God. God (played by Morgan Freeman) and disguised as a janitor meets Bruce who eventually realises who he's talking to. God decides to give Bruce his powers, but he mustn't tell anyone that he is God, and he mustn't interfere with free will. God leaves the room up a stepladder and Bruce shouts after him:

Bruce: What if I need you? What if I have questions?

God: That's your problem, Bruce. That's everybody's problem. You keep looking up.

For me that is quite telling – "You keep looking Up". If we want to see God, we need to look around to see those in need around us. God is found in the most unexpected people and situations. Our God is a God of surprises – we should expect to be surprised by his presence each day – surprised by opportunities to be Jesus to those we meet.

So, Bruce has God's powers and in one scene he's in a diner and wants to see if he can part his soup in the bowl just like Moses parted the Red Sea. When he holds his hands over the bowl his soup does indeed part which impresses Bruce no end. God pops up over his shoulder and again says something profound and challenging:

Parting a soup is not a miracle, Bruce. It's a magic trick. Now, a single mum who works two full-time jobs, and still finds the time to pick up her kid at soccer practice, that's a miracle. A teenager that says "no" to drugs and "yes" to an education, that's a miracle. People want me to do everything for them. What they don't realize is that they have the power. You want to see a miracle, son? Be the miracle.

‘Be the miracle’ is a line that runs right through the film, and it really made me think. We can be the miracle if we adopt the Be Attitudes.

The Be Attitudes are a way of experiencing God’s presence with us in our daily living. This is not about some deeper inner state: these are lifestyle choices. Yet, neither the people to whom they were first addressed, nor we today, would see them as natural aspirations. Jesus is challenging the society of his day. His teaching turns our normal aspirations on their head. Jesus is challenging us to be counter-cultural – he’s daring us to be different and he’s daring us to ‘be the miracle’ of bringing his kingdom into our church, into our families and into our community. How different do we dare to be? Can we ‘Be the Miracle?’

There’s a sequel to ‘Bruce Almighty’ – it’s called ‘Evan Almighty’. God (played by Morgan Freeman again!) tells a contented middle-class bloke called Evan Baxter to build an Ark (think Noah!). There’s a really thought-provoking conversation between God and Evan’s wife, Joan, which goes like this:

Let me ask you something. If one prays for patience, do you think God gives them patience? Or does he give them the opportunity to be patient? If they pray for courage, does God give them courage, or does he give them opportunities to be courageous? If one prayed for their family to be closer, you think God zaps them with warm, fuzzy feelings? Or does he give them opportunities to love each other?

Living the ‘Be Attitudes’ means looking out for opportunities to be kind, to be merciful, to get alongside those who mourn, to work with the poor, to be peacemakers and to begin to forgive. These opportunities are all around us – if only we would look around instead of looking up. We can be the miracle – we can change the world - we can transform our relationships. Being Jesus to others means abandoning our meagre resources and depending solely on God’s grace. This enables us to shift our focus to promoting the values of God's kingdom: mercy, purity, peace, righteousness, and a commitment to God despite everything.

I want to end with a very modern 'down to earth' version of the Be Attitudes which illustrates how we can be like Jesus to others. Here it is:

*Happy are those who don't think they are the bee's knees,
God will give them honour in his kingdom.*

*Happy are those who are beside themselves with sorrow,
God will help them begin again.*

*Happy are those left behind in the race of life,
God will give them beyond measure.*

*Happy are those who believe that justice cries out to be done,
God will see their dreams fulfilled.*

*Happy are those who behave mercifully,
God will be generous to them in return.*

*Happy are those who begin to forgive,
God will show them his love.*

*Happy are those who bring peace between foes,
God will adopt them as his children.*

*Happy are those who are ill-treated because of loving Jesus,
God will give them a place in heaven.*

*Happy are those who are insulted beyond what they can bear,
God will astound them with the beauty of his love.*

Prayer Pointers

Pray that we may live the Be Attitudes looking for opportunities to be Jesus to one another and to our community. Pray that we may be the miracle for our friends, our relatives, our churches and our community.

Give thanks for the many people who are simply good people, who see the best in all situations, think the best of everyone and who are true to themselves.

Pray for all who struggle to obtain justice for the underprivileged and the oppressed, who challenge the status quo and work for those who cannot speak for themselves.

Pray for all who work for peace, not just an end to war and disharmony, but for those who can see both sides of the argument and who strive to create peace with justice, often doing so in situations of extreme personal danger.

Pray for those who are poor, for those whose poverty consumes their being, so that they are denied the ability to move, think, speak of anything but their hunger and thirst.

Pray for all those who are victimized for their beliefs, whatever their faith, for those who languish in prison, or who are denied education or employment, for those who are estranged from family and friends because of the choices they have made to hold fast to their faith

For all those who are ill and for their friends and relatives – especially for Vicky Pearce. For all recovering and convalescing from treatment - that they may have patience and be ready to accept help from others as they heal.

For the soul of Carol Hubbard, and her husband Malcolm and all her family and for the soul of Robert Davis, for his wife Marian and all his family as they mourn them and look to the future. May God help them to begin again.

A Prayer for Ukraine

God of strength and peace,
send your blessing on the people of Ukraine.
Sustain them in their struggles,
hold them in their fear,
protect them from all danger,
and be for them the hope they desire.
